What Is Dry Eye?

Dry eye is a common condition that affects up to 38 million Americans. It can be pretty annoying, interrupting you with dry, tired, itchy, and burning eyes. And these symptoms always seem to hit at the worst time—when you’re reading, driving, watching TV, on your laptop, working out, cooking, or at the office. And if you’re like most people with dry eye, inflammation may be at the root of your symptoms.

•• Symptoms of dry eye may include:

Dryness

Blurriness

Burning

Tired eyes • Watery eyes • Irritation • Stinging • Achiness • Itchiness • Feeling like you have something in your eye

Living in environments with low humidity • Medications such as antihistamines • Changes in hormones • Women may be at higher risk

•• The cycle of chronic dry eye

Dry eye is chronic and can be progressive. Symptoms can keep coming back and get worse over time. If they do, underlying inflammation may be at the root of the problem. And over-the-counter* eye drops may pause dry eye symptoms, but they can't target inflammation.

*Over-the-counter eye drops = artificial tears.

The most common side effects of Xiidra include eye irritation, discomfort or blurred vision when the drops are applied to the eyes, and an unusual taste sensation.

To help avoid eye injury or contamination of the solution, do not touch the container tip to your eye or any surface. If you wear contact lenses, remove them before using Xiidra and wait for at least 15 minutes before placing them back in your eyes.
